TECH GALS PODCAST

ABOUT

A podcast for women, minorities, and all those aspiring or currently in tech. It's no secret that the tech industry lacks diversity. This podcast was created as a vehicle to not only amplify minority voices, but also to start a conversation about allyship and support for creating a more diverse community in tech.

UPCOMING AND RELEASED EPISODES

- Electrical/Hardware Engineering and Post Grad Life at Apple
- The Wage Gap
- Recruiting During COVID-19
- Attending 2 Colleges, FAANG and Startup Careers
- Building a Community of Women in Tech
- ...and more

ABOUT THE HOST

My name is Maddy Chen and I'm a rising senior at UC Berkeley. Throughout my educational and professional experiences, I've often felt an internal and external pressure that I didn't belong in tech. As a result, I wanted to reach out to various minorities in tech/engineering to learn from their experiences. I realized that creating a podcast would allow others to listen and learn too - that's how Tech Gals was born!
